

NEW MEXICO

Key Findings

Benefits paid by state and local pension plans support a significant amount of economic activity in the state of New Mexico.

Pension benefits received by retirees are spent in the local community. This spending ripples through the economy, as one person's spending becomes another person's income, creating a multiplier effect.

In 2018, expenditures stemming from state and local pensions supported...

- 18,236 jobs that paid $776.1 million in wages and salaries
- $2.8 billion in total economic output
- $513.8 million in federal, state, and local tax revenues

... in the state of New Mexico.

Each dollar paid out in pension benefits supported $1.12 in total economic activity in New Mexico.

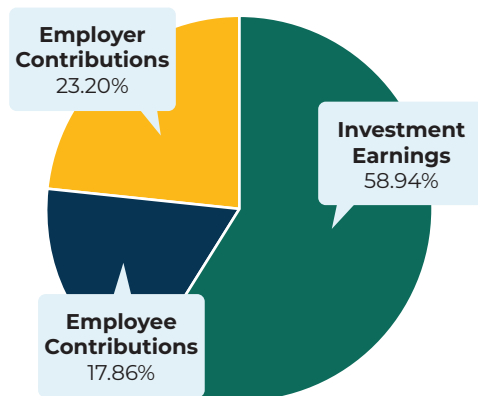

Each dollar "invested" by New Mexico taxpayers in these pension plans supported $4.82 in total economic activity in the state.

Pensionomics 2021:

Measuring the Economic Impact of DB Pension Expenditures

Overview

Expenditures made by retirees of state and local government provide a steady economic stimulus to New Mexico communities and the state economy. In 2018, 98,985 residents of New Mexico received a total of $2.5 billion in pension benefits from state and local pension plans.

The average pension benefit received was $2,107 per month or $25,283 per year. These modest benefits provide retired teachers, public safety personnel, and others who served the public during their working careers income to meet basic needs in retirement.

Between 1993 and 2018, 23.20% of New Mexico's pension fund receipts came from employer contributions, 17.86% from employee contributions, and 58.94% from investment earnings.* Earnings on investments and employee contributions—not taxpayer based contributions—have historically made up the bulk of pension fund receipts.

Impact on Jobs and Incomes

Retiree expenditures stemming from state and local pension plan benefits supported 18,236 jobs in the state. The total income to state residents supported by pension expenditures was $776.1 million.

To put these employment impacts in perspective, in 2018 New Mexico's unemployment rate was 4.9%. The fact that DB pension expenditures supported 18,236 jobs is significant, as it represents 2.17 percentage points in New Mexico's labor force.

Economic Impact

State and local pension funds in New Mexico and other states paid a total of $2.5 billion in benefits to New Mexico residents in 2018. Retirees' expenditures from these benefits supported a total of $2.8 billion in total economic output in the state, and $1.5 billion in value added in the state.

$1.6 billion in direct economic impacts were supported by retirees' initial expenditures. An additional $690.4 million in indirect impact resulted when these businesses purchased additional goods and services. $527.6 million in induced impacts occurred when workers employed by businesses as a result of the direct and indirect impacts made expenditures.

Economic Multipliers

Taxpayer Contribution Factor*

$1.00

contributed by taxpayers to New Mexico pensions over 30 years

$4.82
total output

Each $1 in taxpayer contributions to New Mexico's state and local pension plans supported $4.82 in total output in the state. This reflects the fact that taxpayer contributions are a minor source of financing for retirement benefits—investment earnings and employee contributions finance the lion's share.

Pension Benefit Multiplier

$1.00

pension benefits paid to retirees in New Mexico

$1.12
total output

Each $1 in state and local pension benefits paid to New Mexico residents ultimately supported $1.12 in total output in the state. This "multiplier" incorporates the direct, indirect, and induced impacts of retiree spending, as it ripples through the state economy.

*Caution should be used in interpreting these numbers. See the Technical Appendix of the full Pensionomics report for details.
